

“I almost always underestimated the amount of time that a project would take.”

— Forest @ Nitorix

Centralized Project, Task & Time Management

Intervals is a hosted service that enables you to centralize your projects, manage your tasks, and track your time in a personalized online space—so you can gain valuable insight into your business.

What it does

Intervals enables you. It enables you to...

- track your time—use built-in timers to record accurate time
- manage projects and their related tasks
- get a big picture insight into your business—perform time, financial and other resource analysis of your projects and your people
- give your clients their own private project interface
- streamline your business processes and ensure you never lose another hour of billable time

Intervals frees you. It releases you...

- from archaic data entry methods
- to set up as many users as your business needs—your intervals subscription is based on number of projects, not the number of people
- to focus on your business instead of your paperwork

So what else is cool about Intervals?

- personalize it to match your company's daily operations and look & feel
- it's very affordable—Intervals won't break the bank
- no annual contract
- nothing to install or download—it's all online
- easy data export

Who it's for

Businesses

- web design/development firms
- creative/ad agencies
- PR firms
- IT service companies
- start-up firms in any sector
- departments of larger companies
- companies with an international workforce

Individual Professionals

- designers
- developers
- marketing consultants
- PR professionals
- filmmakers and photographers
- entrepreneurs
- professional service providers
- anyone who freelances or consults on a regular basis

Pricing

Monthly plans range from $20 to $175, depending on the number of projects you choose to manage.

Tech stuff

Intervals supports

- PC: Firefox 1.5 and Internet Explorer 6.x, 7.x
- Mac: Firefox 1.5 and Safari
- Linux: Firefox 1.5